TCU Summer Trombone Workshop

Tune up your trombone playing this July. Come to TCU for two days of focused, fun, fellowship with high school trombone students from across the state. Work with David Begnoche, TCU professor of trombone and Dennis Bubert, Fort Worth Symphony Bass Trombonist, to fine tune your skills, recharge your practice batteries, and make new friends while getting a jump-start on your All-State Etudes. Participants perform daily in masterclasses, in chamber music and Trombone Choir!

Activities include:

- All-State Etudes Masterclasses
- Audition Techniques
- Orchestral Excerpts Clinic
- Jazz Improvisation Masterclass
- Faculty Recital
- Guest Artist Recital
- Workshop Trombone Choir Concert
- And more!

Commuter Fee $125.00

Daily Lunch Included

Resident Fee $190.00*

Auditor Fee $60.00/$125.00*

\ Includes camp tuition, dorm residency, and all meals for the camp*

Workshop Faculty

DAVID BEGNOCHE is Associate Professor of Trombone in the TCU School of Music. Dr. Begnoche maintains an active performing career with groups throughout the U.S. and abroad. His extensive professional performing experience includes titled positions with the Joffrey Ballet Orchestra (Chicago), Sarasota Opera (FL), Albany Symphony (NY), Spoleto Festival Orchestra (Italy), Charleston Symphony Orchestra (SC) and AIMS Festival Orchestra (Austria). He has performed with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and has recorded with the Boston Pops under John Williams.

DENNIS BUBERT has been the bass trombonist of the Fort Worth Symphony Orchestra since 1981. He previously held the same post in the New Mexico Symphony Orchestra and has performed with other ensembles in the Dallas/Fort Worth metroplex, including the Dallas Symphony Orchestra and the Dallas Opera. Mr. Bubert serves on the music faculty of UT Arlington and his principal teachers include Edward Kleinhammer and Arnold Jacobs, both long-time members of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.
